In What Way Will She Enforce Her Claims on Nicaragua?

VENEZUELA NEEDS A FRIEND.

The United States Will Take Steps to Balk the Greed of Great Britain,

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 21.-Gres Britain's attitude toward the Republics of Nicaragua and Venezuela was the subject of a prolonged conference at the White House between President Cleveland, Secre-tary Gresham and Secretary Carlisle. It is probable that a communication will be cabled to Ambassador Bayard at London to-day in regard to the Nicaraguan affair. There is reason to believe that in this communication Mr. Bayard will be instructed to ask the British Foreign Office what steps Great Britain proposes to take to enforce her demands in the event of the failure of demanded as indemnity for the expulsion of Consul Hatch within the seven weeks time fixed by the British ultimatum.

TO BALK BRITISH GREED.

Venezuela Can Only Look to This Country for Aid.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 21 .- The Venezuelan incident has taken precedent over all the other complications with foreign powers in which this government is now involved. It is regarded as much more momentous than any other question The question not only involves England and the United States, but France and Germany also. France does not relish the curt dis-missal of her Minister in Caracas, and has sent a man of war to take him back. Gersent a man of war to take him back. Germany, too, is preparing to make a naval demonstration in Venezuelan waters with the purpose of demanding payment of debts due to her subjects by the Venezuelan Government. The administration is exerting every effort to induce France to dealist from any action calculated to foment the existing excitement and the intervention of Russia is to be sought to this end.

Cabinet officers are reticent on the ques-tions at issue, but it transpired that it was decided to take whatever preparatory steps were necessary to sustain the position of the United States on the Monroe doctrine. It is perhaps significant that the coaling station for ships has been removed from Colon to Carthegena, which is twenty-four hours nearer to Venezuelan ports, and Ad-miral Meade's fleet is at present contiguous

The three chief seaports of Venezuela are La Guayra, Puerto Cabello and Maracalbo In the event of an attack by an English fleet, the port of Maracaibo would hardly come in for consideration, as the shallowness of the approach to the entrance to the Lake of Maracaibo would not permit the approach of a fleet. mand of the free commerce and navigation of the Oronoco.

Venezuela, in eccordance with her constitution, had constantly invoked, as a means of settling the controversy, arbitration—a plan so thoroughly in harmony with the progress of civilization and so applauded by the public and statesmen of Great Britain and in short proposed by this nation itself to the United States in questions of a similar nature. Every thing has proved in vain, and although at one time Lord Granville had accepted arbitration in writing, his successor, Lord Salisbury, refused it to Venezuela at the same time that he confirmed the agreement of the same Minister, Lord Granville, with Russia in the matter of the boundary of Afghanistan.

The British Government, it is understood, demands that Venezuela relinquish her claim to all territory north of the Schomburg line, which runs westward from Amacura, on the Oronoco-delta, and that arbitration be limited to territory south of that line, on which Great Britain has already seriously encreached. The British now lay claim to alimost the entire territory north of the Caroni and east of the Oronoco-below the mouth of the Caroni. This includes, of course, the vast territory of Yurari, wherein are situated the rich and productive gold mines of Cartal Collos.

Story of the Young Woman Who Killed Herself in Boston.

NEW YORK, March 21.-The identity o NEW YORK, March 21.—The identity of the young woman who committed aticide at the Adams House, Boston, Tuesday has been established. She had lived here for several years, but never lived in Holyoke, it is said. She registered from the latter place and signed a fictitious name-Grace M. C. Norton—on the hotel register, for the avowed purpose of hiding her identity; for she went to Boston with her mind fully made up to ttake her own life. Clara Hathaway was her maden name. About a year ago she went to Boston, her friends understood, for the purpose of joining Rice's Extravaganza company. There she met a wealthy shoe manufacturer, Richard Laird, of the firm of Laird & Ray of Pittsburg, Mr. Laird induced her to go to Pittsburg, and she lived with him there for several months, being known as Mrs. Laird.

Laird.

Last August the woman, it is said, insisted on a ceremony of marriage being performed, and a quarrel was the result. The aid of the police was invoked by Laird, and Miss Hathaway was accompanied fifty miles on an enforced journey toward New York by a Pittsburg officer. When relieved of her escort she very promptly returned to Pittsburg and prosecuted Laird criminally. She then began a suit on account of her forcible removal from the city. She succeeded in having Laird fined, and then began a suit for breach of promise against him. This action was pending at the time of her death.

him. This action was pending at the time of her death.

Miss Hathaway is described as an educated woman, and is said to have been the daughter of wealthy parents. She eloped from an Iowa seminary at the age of 17, and was disowned by her father, and when deserted by her husband within two years after their marriage she would not effect a reconciliation with her family, but came East. Often, it is said, she tried to get out of the life she was leading, and at one time she was about to become a trained nurse, but was persuaded by Mr. Laird. She was 29 years old.

Mrs. Ida Jeffreys Goodfriend gave it as her opinion that hypnotism was dangerous, and should be regulated by laws so as to make it a criminal offense to hypnotise persons without their consent.

"If we stand on a high spiritual plane," put in Mrs. Bishop, "we can stand firm, and not allow anybody to hypnotise us. If anybody wishes us evil, we can wish him so much good that it will kill all the evil."

Mrs. Rached McAuley said: "I fear that we are making grave mistakes. We condone the sinner so much that the enormities of the sin itself seem mitigated. No book has caused so much discussion as Trilby. People give themselves away, so to speak, in their expressions of opinion about it. It is very easy to see their trend of thought in these expressions. I don't like hypnotism. I think it is a power from the Evil One. I would rather anybody steal my money than my individuality, which is what these hypnotisers do."

Miss Sarah Palmer declared that all had moments of weakness, when they could be conquered. "We must hold this thing off. It is a power for evil," she said.

Mr. Tatum was in the midst of a tirade against the substitute and which indicated the intention of the House majority to reject the Senate substitute when Mr. Drabelle raised the point of order that the bill that came over from the House was originally indorsed "Senate amendment to House bill 79." and that that indorsement had been erased and the word "Substitute" inserted in lieu thereof. He said that he was informed that the clerk of the Semate had declared that he had not made the change and wanted to know who was responsible therefor. The captions of the printed bill originally acted on by the Senate and that which had been sent to the House after amendment by the Senate were not the same, the first being entitled "Senate substitute," while that which came over to the House was "Senate amendments" to House bill 79.

The House conferrees did not want to increase the St. Louis Insane Asylum from $20,000 to $40,000 in the bill, but Senator Lancaster told them that if thay persisted in their refusal he would recommend that the support of the Insane in the St. Louis Asylum be thrown upon the State. Thereupon the House conferrees evinced a disposition to yield, but would not give a decisive answer. There was also a disagreement on the item of $10,000 for books for the penitentiary library put on by the House. Lancaster insisted that the prison library contained books enough. The House conferrees took this matter under advisement also.

The question of dividing the items of penitentiary, salaries and repairs, instead of consolidating them, as provided in the House bill, was agreed to. Lancaster says that the first committee will probably agree on all these points in the way he has suggested. In the general appropriation bill the $17,000 added by the Senate to the State militia appropriation, $3,901 for transporting Missouri troops to the World's Fair, and the cost of printing 10,000 extra copies of the session acts are stricken out. All other Senate amendments were agreed to. This is understood to be the basis of the settlement.

The question was definitely settled last night when the Columbian Line, which is owned by the Panama Railroad Company purchased outright the three vessels of the oil Brazilian inte, the Afflance, Advance and Finance, which the Columbian line had merely chartered up to this time. The Pacific Mail officials have been counting all along upon the Panama road taking the former's Atlantic fleet, and the delay was supposed to be due to the action of the Panama Canal directors who wished more time for the consideration of the proposed agreement, and from the fact that the Charter of the Brazilian line vessels was renewed until April 1.

It was a part of the proposed deal that the Pacific Mail Company should withdraw from the Atlastic service, leaving the Columbian line in full control of the trade between New York and Colon. There was no dispute on this point. It was also agreed that the Pacific Mail company should be accorded the right to name west bound rates, the Pacific Mail company having that right on east bound traffic. All of the main points of the alliance, in fact, were agreed upon, and rates were to be restored to a paying basis again. and Remedies Without Number

For Every Disaase and Affliction but One.

A prominent physician was recently asked why it was that there are so many "blood purifiers," "nerve tonics" and remedies for every ill except one of the most common and annoying, viz.; piles. He replied, there are two principal reasons: First, physicians and people in general have thought that the only permanent cure for piles was a surgical operation, that medicinal preparations were simply palliative. Another reason is that piles is, in no sense of the word, an imaginary disease. The sufferer from piles is very much aware of the fact, and, for this reason, the few so-called pile salves, ointments, etc., have been short-lived; the patient very soon discovered their inefficiency.

He says further, "fortunately, however, there is a new remedy for piles, which, judging from its rapidly growing popularity will soon take the place of all other treatment; it has certainly made astoolshing cures in this obstinate disease and its merit has made it famous among physicians and wherever it has been introduced. The remedy is sold by all druggists under the name of Pyramid Pile Cure.

From the immediate relief which the Pyramid Pile Cure gives in all forms of piles, many physicians supposed it contained opium, cocaine or some similar substance, but upon analysis it was was found to be perfectly free from anything of the kind, and that the instant relief and cure which follows its use is rather the result of its remarkable healing, soothing action on the parts affected.

GAS METERS.

The Dial Hands and How to Read Them. All the smaller sized meters used by gas consumers have four dials, while the larger ones have five. The top dial is used only for purposes of testing the meter, or detect-ing leaks in the place in the house. When the gas is shut off at every cock through-out the house the hand on this small dial should not move. If it does it can be set down for a certainty that there is a leak hands of the dais point 'up,' or at the 'maught.'

When the meter begins to work (leaving out of consideration dial No. 5) the hand of dial No. 1 will move perceptibly if watched closely. When it reaches the figure 1 'signifies 100 feet of gas has passed through the meter; at 2 it signifies 500 feet, and so until it completes the circle and reache the "naught" point again, when 1,00 feet have been registered. At this point it will be observed that the hand on dial No. 3 has also been moving and stands on the

Now to read the face of the disis. The accompanying cut shows 548, to which 60 are added for the hundreds and it gives 554,500 feet.

It will be seen from these figures that where a disi hand stands between two figures the smaller one is always taken, and the reason for this is apparent when the system of revolutions of the disi hands is considered. If then the meter registered 124,360 on March 1 and will register say 54,600 on April 1, by subtracting the former from the latter, which gives 12,500, the amount consumed during the month is shown.

TROUBLES OF

THE BELLOIRS.

Adolph and His Wife Have Become Reconciled Again.

EUGENE IS VERY OBDURATE.

He Has Refused to Receive Euphrasie in His Home, and Publishes a Notice Disclaiming Her.

There seems to be a never ending fecundity about the Belloin family for development of trouble for themselves and of news for rs. They have had divorces withdrawals of suits, elopements single and elopements double, double divorces and now there is a returning of prodigal wives and their paramours with plaintive appeals for ess. So rapid is the action in this cult to state at any particular moment the exact status of the relations existing be-exact status of the relations existing between any of the parties.

To begin with this story at the very beginning, before all this trouble came upon these good people, you have to cross the ocean and go to the province of Normandy, in France. Here, some years ago, quite a little group of the hardy peasantry determined to come to America. They bundled up all their belongings and after the usual trials of usual ignorant emigrants, found themselves on the Weber road just outside of Carondelet. Here they prospered, for they were industrious and frugal.

In this party of Norman peasants there were two brothers, Adolph and Eugene Belloir. They were strappling young fellows and as they grew more prosperous they looked about them for wives. Naturally they chose two black-eyed girls from among the number who had come with them from the old country. They paid their court in the usual ardent French manner and something over two years ago they both were married.

in the usual ardent French mainter and something over two years ago they both were married.

Then their troubles began. No one had ever seen the names of the Belloir brothers in a newspaper until the day their marriage licenses were printed. After that they did not seem to be able to keep them out. To begin with, Eugene had a robbery in his house. Someone found the tin can which he kept in the cellar stuffed with money, and took $500 out of it. That brought him into notoriety immediately. Then Louisa had a fight with Adolph and sued him for divorce. He had to pay her $100 to get her to withdraw it. But this was only a starter.

Along about the middle of February Adolph woke up one morning to find Louisa one. She had taken with her a canary bird, a bull pup and the hired man. Eugene thought he had a little bit the best of the matrimonial bargain until Feb. 25, when he woke up to find Euphrasic also gone. She took no bull pup nor canary bird with her, but she had a man. This man was Frank La Fetit and he left behind him a 17-year-old wife and a babe in arms.

No one could blame the brothers for getting angry at this double misfortune, and hen they told thair tale of woe to Assistant transcripting Attorney Johnson sveryone procure warrants for their recreant spouses and base paramours.

The public heard no more of this matrimonial maze until last Saturday, when two divorce suits were filed. Eugene Belloir and Mrs. Le Petit were the complainants. They told their troubles to Carl Ungar, and he put them into legal verbiage and the proceedings were begun. Wonder was expressed that Adolph had not thus sought redress in the civil courts, as his wronged brother had done, but Adolph knew his business. Mrs. Adolph had returned very quietly in the meantime with the bull pup and canary and without the hired man. She and Adolph kissed and made up and are now, or were at the last hearing, making another try at being happy.

kissed and made up and are now, or were at the last hearing, making another try at being happy.

Le Petit and Euphrasie must have heard of Louisa's success in being rehabilitated in her husband's good graces, for Wednesday afternoon they came trooping up the Weber road. Le Petit kept out of Eugene's sight, but Euphrasie, very penitent, made bold to face him. Without ceremony she walked into the house. She pleaded to come back. Eugene listened to her coldly and told her to leave his sight, and never darken his door again. The prodigal was obdurate. She refused to go and the offended husband, growing angry at the recollection of his wrongs and his disgrace, took her by the hand to lead her out. But the woman now more than ever refused to go. As the man pushed her toward the door she clung to his clothing and falling upon her knees begged for the forgieness she knew was not her due.

clothing and falling upon her knees begged for the forgieness she knew was not her due.

DEAF TO ENTREATIES.

Eugene turned a deaf ear to her entreaties. He struggled with her until he had brought her without his threshold and then he closed the door in her face. She stood there weeping and wailing in her grief and her dishonor and finally walked slowly away.

In the meantime Le Petit had visited the home of his young wire. She seemed rather glad than otherwise that he had once more come back to her, but she was coquette enough not to give in too easily. He made all sorts of promises to be good and she listened patiently, smiling at times through her tears, but no promise of forgiveness could be exacted from her. The recreant husband hung about the house for a long time in the hope of securing a definite answay without success. Finally he went saway without success. Finally he went as you without success. Finally he went saway with held to be submitted to Chauncey I. Filley for instructions. Reinstatement cards were issued to parties claiming to have been wrongfully stricken off only upon affidavit that they live at the number they give and are complying with the law. They are then given to the secretary of the board, who distributes them to the revisers of the wards in which the applicants for reinstatement live. In this manner Bristol and Weber got hold of the cards. After they refused to turn them over, a resolution compelling them to do so was passed by a vote of 23 to 5, nine Republicans voting with the Democrats in condemwas passed by a vote of 23 to 5, nine Republicans voting with the Democrats in condemnation of such irregular practices.

Another attempt was made Wednesday by the Republican revisers to compel Recorder Higgins to turn over the poll books to them. City Counselor Marshall is out of the city, and in his absence Assistant City Counselor Macklin rendered an opinion that the board has a right to inspect any book in the Recorder's office, under the Supervision of the Recorder of Votars of a deputy recorder, but it has no right to make additions, alterations or erasures. The Republicans were not satisfied with this and endeavored to pass the resolution in spite of the opposition, but failed.

The law is very plain and reads as follows:

See Pob.—Any Recorder of Voters or Deputy Re-corder of Voters who shall permit any such book of registration to be falsen from his office or out of his custody, except and multy of a misdemeanor, nance, shall be demandered by the ordi-nance, shall be demandered by the ordinate of and upon cusylerized by the ordinate of the to law, and in addition thereto be removed from to law, and in addition thereto be removed from office as such Recorder or Deputy Recorder of City Counselor Marshall has been advised of the situation by mail and requested to forward his opinion.

The total number stricken from the list in all precincts is 11,394. The greater part of these were in the First, Second, Fourth, Fourteenth, Sixteenth and Nineteenth wards. The total registration was a little over $6.00, which brings the list down to about $6,000. Last fall 724 men, were reinstated, but Recorder Higgins is of the opinion that a larger number of names will be restored to the list this spring, judging from the number of men who appear at his office ready to make oath that they have been wrongfully stricken off.

MRS. CURRAN'S BOARDERS.

She Will Not See Her Son's Constituents Wrongfully Deprived of a Vote. Mrs. John Curran, Delegate Cronin's of Delegates in the Iwentieth ward and mother-in-law, thinks it an outrage that will go before the people on election day as the candidate of the Democratic party seventy of her boarders should be stricken off the registration list. Mrs. Curran's hostelry is located on the southwest corner of

with the political aspirations of her son-inlaw, she has her boarders registered, so they can vote as Delegate Jim directs on election day.

When seen Thursday by a Post-Dispatch reporter Mrs. Curran was knitting in her saloon surrounded by a host of her boarders, who seem to regard her with awe and admiration. Asked about the treatment accorded her boarders by the revisors of the First Ward, she said:

"I think that is a shame that decent, honest men like mine are deprived of their rights by their partisan enemies. They say my house will not accommodate seventy men, but that's false, for the reason that I can prove that I have taken care of 150 in the days when times on the river were good. My house was no bigger then than it is now, and if any one doubts what I say all they have to do is to send the men to me and give me a chance to prove it. At present I have thirty-two regular boarders and some fifty steady lodgers. These men drift around, working here and there, but they always manage to stop at my house for more or less time during the year. For that reason, my place can be called their home and I don't think it's fair to strike them off the registration.

"When the revisors came around here and wanted to see my boarders I told them they could be found at the Valley wharfboat on the river front. Every must I want to vote this spring is entitled to a ballot and I asked the revisors to come back in light when the men are at supper. Then it would be easy to identify and locate them.

"But no, the revisors wouldn't have it that way, and without stopping to think that they might be depriving honest men of their rights, they went ahead and struck off as many as they pleased. In this land of the free, such unreasonable tactics are not countesanced by honest citizens and my men don't propose to stand them. They are entitled to vote and will not permit any partisan revisors to trick them out of their rights.

"Or course quite a number of men may have been registration to make my

DEMOCRATIC VACANCIES.

Members of the Democratic City Cantral Committee were kept busy Thursday waiting upon persons who had been suggested as available candidates for the Council to fill the vacancies caused by the resignations of Lacled J. Howard and A. B. Ewing.

The committee will meet again Friday to take action, as that is the last day upon which nominations can be made. R. A. Rutledge, A. B. Wolf, Leverett Bell, Frank H. Gray, Edgar A. Skinner, Harvey L. Christie, James Weston, John A. Sloan and Wm. Cullinane were mentioned at Wednesday night's meeting, but as it was not known whether they would all accept action was deferred until Friday night.

The Republicans gathered at German Military Hall in the Twelfth Ward Wednesday night. Messrs. Filley, Horton, Uthoff, Heckel, Hagan and Brinkmeyer were among the speakers.

Joe Rauer withdrew from the field for the House of Delegates in the Fifth Ward in favor of Wenselaus J. Baydeck, because of the latter's strength with the Bohemian element. Both Rauer and Baydeck are Democrats.

storm was so bad that night that the house-keeper was aroused from her sleep and she determined to take a look through the dormitories. The first room she entered contained the black intruder. He was just putting out the light and Mrs. Felch could see that he had a knife in his hand. He sprang upon her and grabbed her by the throat. She fought him off as best she could, the noise of the storm preventing her outcries being heard.

The children were finally awakened by the disturbance and the negro, releasing his hold on the woman, made his escape. The bell in the home was rung, but no-one heard it, owing to the storm. Next morning an effort was made to trace the brute, but as Mrs. Felch can give no description of him the chances of capturing him are small.

The negro gained entrance to the home by prying open a cellar window.

STATE LEGISLATURES.

The Civil Service Measure Becomes a SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 21.-The SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 21.—The civil service bill, with the emergency clause, has passed the Senate and been signed by the Governor. Before the Governor signed the bill a majority of the Senators and Legislators signed an agreement to pass an amendatory act reducing the salaries of civil service commissioners in towns of less than 25,000 inhabitants from 200 to 250. The act will be submitted to the Chicago voters in April. Senator Littler introduced a bill to prevent strikes by permitting coal operators to combine to maintain wages. The Republicans in caucus decided to stand by the amendments to the emergency bill and to make ample provision for uniforming the troops in the regular appropriation bill.

CUT THIS OUT.

The laboring men and Missouri voters generally should cut this out and keep it for study next year when nominations for the State Senate are being made. It is the vote on the fellow servant bill which had passed the House, and which came up for consideration in the Senate on

At every session for years past the laboring men of the State have asked of the Legislature a law of this character for their protection in an extra hazardous occupation. At every session, with equal regularity, the railroad lobby has bifterly fought it and defeated it. If it got through one House the lobby has managed to block it in the other. When a dided as dangerous the lobby has discovered a "principle" at stake and demanded that the bill be made "general." The lobby knows several ways of killing an objectionable bill besides the yea and nay vote.

On Wednesday the issue was squarely joined. The House bill was not a perfect measure, but it was a step in the right direction. The lobby rallied all its forces road Committee. Senator Baskett, in order kill the bill by smothering it in committee, asked that it be referred to the Railroad Committee. Senator Baskett, in order to secure its favorable consideration moved to refer it to the committee of the whole. Here is the vote on Senator Baskett's motion:

Ayes | (for the people)-Baskett (D.), Dunn (D.), Gash (D.), Kennish (R.), Klene (R.), Morton (D.), Williams (R. and P.), Yeater (D.),-8,

Of the nay votes 11 were cast by Democrats and 10 by Republicans, which shows that the lobby's clutch is upon both parties equally. Voters should out out this list and ep it. Lest they fall to do so the Postatch will reprint it when the time nominating conventions comes round.

THE MEAT SUPPLY SCANDAL

The facts which the Post-Dispatch has discovered and submitted to the pubwith regard to the contracts for the meat supplies of the city institu-tions strongly indicate johbery.

The contracts for the current quarter's supply have been divided among several contractors whose bids range from $3.99 to $5.98 per 100 pounds for the same quality of meat. These contract prices represent a large reduction from the prices for the last quarter, sithough there has been in the meantime an advance of $1.75 in the market price of beet. It is evident that if $3.99 is a fair price for meat, $5.38 is excessive; or if $5.98 is a fair price, the contractor who has undertaken to supply

The nature of this crockedness appears from the facts and the statements of meat dealers, who charge that the meat supply contracts have been controlled by a ring with an official pull. The outside dealers declare that it is impossible to supply meat under the contract specificans at the contract prices without a evasion of the contract obligas. It is charged that the ring can, hrough its ability to evade compliance with the terms of the contract, prevent competition and that bribery has been esorted to to prevent the cutting down of bids by outside competition.

The contracts cannot be explained except on this theory of evasion and the cheating of the city. Contractors do not take contracts to put meney in the City Treasury. But the ring could not exist and the city could not be cheated by dishonest practices without official collusion. The contractors would not dare undertake contracts they could not fulfill without loss unless they were sure of an effective official pull.

The facts have an ugly look. The contracts call for investigation.

HANDS OFF, JOHN BULL.

The Allianca outrage is by no means the most difficult of the foreign com-plications with which the Administration has to deal. The Post-Dispatch has never doubted that in due time the Spanish Government will disavow and apologize for the conduct of the Conde de gratefully recognized. Venandito in firing on the American flag. A much more serious matter is the new outbreak of the chronic quarrel between Venezuela and Great Britain over the boundary line between Veneuela and British Gulana.

This quarrel is of many years' stand-ing and every time it breaks out afresh Great Britain demands more territory and harder terms. At the present me ment she is menacing Venezuela with threats that have behind them the armed occupation of the disputed territory. Against this Secretary Gresham should simple protest. In no spirit of jingo bumptiousness, but in vindication of the historic policy of our Government, he should make the British Foreign Office understand that invasion of Venezuela means war with the United States. The American people will stand no trifling with the Monroe Doctrine. Neither Great Britain nor any other European power must be permitted under any pre-"to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere."

FILLEY'S BI-BOSS SCHEME.

The people should not be deceived by the resolutions on the subject of election reform legislation which Boss Filley en-gineered through a Republican meeting

These resolutions are a cunning scheme to defeat genuine election and registra tion reform or to shape it to the purposes of political bossism. In an interesting interview published elsewhere, Gov. Stone effectually refutes the charges of the Republican boss against the Senate substitute election bill. That bill safeguards the power of the Recorder of Voters by providing that the Circuit judges may reject unfit appointments on appeal. The Circuit bench is thus made a supervising board in the matter of the appointment of election officers. The best proof of the soundness of the bill is the approval of it by the Public Safety Committee. But the milk in Filley's election bil cocoanut is the demand for a bi-partisar Election Commission. The bi-partisar commission is the best plan that political ingenuity has yet devised to accomplish bines a pretense of security for public nterests and an opportunity for the bosses of both parties to get together and run things on the mutual benefit plan New York's experience with a bi-partisar police board has convincingly demons trated the viciousness of a combination of power with a division of responsibility nder the bi-parisan scheme.

If, a bi-partisan commission were cr ated in this city Filley and Ed Butler would simply pool their interests and absolutely control the entire election machinery of St. Louis. Neither party would be responsible and hence there would be no responsibility. The city would be at the mercy of a pair of ma chine bosses.

THE SUCCESSFUL FENDER CAMPAIGN The House of Delegates is to be com mended for its prompt response to the appeal of the Post-Dispatch in behalf of the people for the adoption of the street car fender bill.

The responsibility for making the law to be used by the street cars. Its approval is necessary to compliance with the law. The people of St. Louis will expect of the board thorough investigation and firmness of judgment in the approval of fenders that will meet lifesaving requirements.

But while the effective enforcement of the law will reduce the danger of accidents it will not relieve the street car companies from responsibility for accidents occurring through excess of speed carelessness or the neglect of any reasonable precautions by the companies and their employes. The adoption of one precaution against loss of life or injury to persons will not relieve the companie of their obligation to exercise due car tion in all other respects.

It is generally considered that a woman who enters professional life has no time for anything so distinctly feminine as the use of the needle. Dr. Mary T. While she was standing at her door the other day a little street arab passed by rather better dressed than the general run of such, but with a gaping hole betraying the pink fiesh beneath his stocking.

"Well, you just come inside," cammanded the physician, and before the kid knew where he was he was sitting in a well-furnished parlor with Dr. Robinson industriously plying her needle on the rent. Col. Morse of Virginia. Col. Morse of Virginia.

The star Bohemian character on the St. Louis Rialto for the past few years is an insurance man named Morse or "Kunnel Morse, of Virginny, sah," as he calls himself in the early hours of the morning. The Colonel is a small sized, smooth faced, rather intellectual looking young chap and no matter what condition he is in, he never loses his dignity. Politicians, turfmen and actors are his favored associates, but he does not draw the line at any of the regulars, and nothing suits him better apparently, than to set up and argue with a crowd of good fellows. The warmer the argument gets, the better it suits the Colonel, and he never hesitates to take off his coat and vest and orate from the center of a table, when he thinks he is handicapped sitting down.

The ather night the Colonel was entertaining a Congressman and a theatrical star at the St. Nicholas, when Bookmaker Tom Walsh dropped in. "They were flying pretty high," said Walsh afterwards, "and wine bills must have been soakers, but this fact did not phase the Colonel in the least. He wrote his check out as fast as my ticket writer does business, and they were accepted like Government bonds. Yes, sir, in the way of buying, he traveled at a Simmons gait that night, and I have been wondering ever since how long he can continue at the same pace. One night nearly knocked me out, for a week, but they tell me the Colonel was 'Johnny-on-the-Spot' the very next evening, creating more noise than usual in the Planters' Hotel Cafe."

The Colonel has his headquarters at the Rozler Hotel, but he manages to make the rounds every night, and it doesn't require a search light to locate him after 9 p. m. in some of the Olive street or Washington avenue racing resorts. The First Hairdresser.

The first appearance in modern Europe of the male hair dresser was not until the eighteenth century, when Legros, Frederic and Leonard, made their calling as famous as Vattel or Soyer did theirs. Legros, indeed, began life as a cook, and opened an academy for hairdressers, in which he based his teachings upon the proportions of the head and style of the face, till in 1765 he published his great work on "L'Art de la Colffure des Dames Francaises," which specified as many ways of dressing the hair as the artist of the other line discovered for the cooking of areas.

THE LIVERPOOL STEEPLECHASE

Cloister, a Former Winner, Again the Favorite.

TO CARRY THE TOP WEIGHT.

The Grand Horse Will Take Up 185 Pounds and Carry It Four Miles to-morrow week. The present favorite for the event is Cloister, who won the race in 1893. On this occasion he took up 172 pounds and covered the course, four miles and 856 yards, over thirty-eight jumps, in 9:41-5. This year Cloister's impost will be 185 pounds against the minimum of 133, which will be borne by half a dozen of his competitors. If he wins under this crushing impost turfmen the world over will be ready to acknowledge that Cloister is one of the greatest, if not the greatest jumping horse in the history of steeplechasing.

Cloister is a big bay gelding with immense bone and muscular power and a fair turn of speed; quick thoroughbrad, being by Ascetic (by Hermit, sire of St. Blaise and Mr. Pickwick), out of Grace II., by Crown Frince, and was bred in Ireland by Lord Fingal. He is now 11 years old, and in addition to winning the Grand National in 1835 he ran second in 1832 and 1831, carrying 171 and 181 respectively. Last year he was assigned 175 pounds, and although the winner was favorite at the short price of 2 to 1, he did not start on account of sickness.

The Grand National has been instituted for fifty-six years, since 1829, when it was won by Lottery. The greatest number of starters was thirty-two, in 1850, while Salamander beat twenty-nine others in 1886, but the average is about twenty runners, of whom seldom more than one-third are standing up at the finish. No jockey has ever been severely injured. Ireland, France and Germany have generally one or more representatives in the field, and aometimes Austria and Australia. Ireland has won it five times, or seven if the Lamb's dual victory is credited to the land of his birth, but it has never fallen to an American-bred horse, though one, Jolly Sir John, got over the country without mishap and finished close up. yards, over thirty-eight jumps, in 9:41 1-5. Heretofore Eil has been piloted by "Cooks," who invariably landed him in the ruck, but yesterday he was ridden by McIntyre, one of the best jockeys at the track. The announcement that McIntyre would ride him caused Eil to be backed from 2 to 1 down to evens. Of course the "right coin" went down first, and Eil won galloping. Presiding Judge Sinclair looked solemn, but saw nothing, and the chances are the stand will have to fail down before he discovers "where he is at." TRACEY ALMOST BEATEN. commy Ryan Nearly Knocked Out the St. Louis Man.

Tom Tracey was all but put out by Tomm; Ryan in Chicago last night, but according to the agreement that if both men were on to the agreement that if both men were on their feet at the end of the eighth round the contest would be declared a draw, there was no decision. Tracey fought well until the fourth round, when he began to get tired, and Ryan almost had him at his mercy. Ryan pounded Tracey in the eye and closed it, and drew blood from the St. Louis boy-several times, until the latter was almost blinded. blinded.

Before the Ryan-Tracey mill Harry Pig-eon defeated the "Louisiana Rosebud" in four rounds and Frank Childs got the decis-ion from Rufus Sharpe of St. Louis in an interesting eight-round contest.

Jimmie Barry of Chicago, the 165-pound champion of the world, at the present time has more ofters of engagements than he can attend to. Besides being matched to box "Kid" Madden at Coney Island early in April, he is to meet Joe Bertram of California at Parson-Davies Tattersalls show Thursday night, and on the 30th inst. he is going against Casper Leon in an eight-round contest. He is also billed to appear at the Suffolk Club's next tournament, which is set for April 20. With four engagements within six weeks, Barry is certainly having his share of work, and if he manages to come out winner in all he can surely class himself "king of the bantams." McAuliffe's Money Covered.

One rather promising step towards a match between Jack McAuliffe and young Griffo has been taken. Hugh Behan, the latter's backer, covered the $500 which McAuliffe posted with the Illustrated News several days ago, and announced that he would be at the office named on Friday, at 2 p. m., to decide upon the details of the proposed contest. Griffo is ready, his manager says, to meet McAuliffe to a finish under any reasonable conditions. The Australian, who is booked to box in the Quaker City to-morrow night, will be present at this meeting.

Missouri Division Will Meet This Evening to Adopt New Ones.

The Board of Officers of the Missouri Division L. A. W. will meet at the South Side Cycle Club headquarters this evening to adopt a new set of by-laws and recommend changes in the constitution. No mend changes in the constitution. No radical changes are proposed, and the intention is to make alterations in the bylaws so that they will agree with the recent legislation of the L. A. W. But one important change is proposed and that is in regard to the election laws. A plan is proposed to have an election committee chosen at the annual meeting of the division. Dut no recommendation of the Revision Committee will be made.

The constitutional amendments will probably be submitted to a special division meeting to be held shortly.

Brooklyn and says she will communicate with Ambassador Eustis regarding the matter.

"I am a granddaughter of Chayaller de Harpart, who was of a very wealthy and distinguished family," said she last night. "He was a cousin of Louis XVI. of France. His sister was the Countess Teresa Catherine St. Leger de Harpart, who was executed during the French revolution. The other heirs are great-grandchildren. The Chevaller came to America about 1821 and married a daughter of Gen. Thomas of the revolutionary war, who lived in Maryland, somewhere near Baltimore. He afterward returned to France, taking a son, Louis, with him, and leaving his two other children—my mother, Teresa de Harpart, and Joseph—here. Mother, who died about thirty-seven years ago, married Mathias Stern, and she had five children, of whom my sister, Mrs. Walte, and myself are now alive. We will have the records at Monte Carlo searched, as the Chevaller. I have heard my mother say, was a great spendithrift and be generally went where the most pleasure was to be had. If my Uncle Louis was living now he would be 37 years old. If he died recently it is possible that he may have made some provision by his will for the heirs in America."

Two New Offices Which Were Created by the Last Congress to Check Lawlessness.

WASHINGTON, March 21 .- The following

Constantine Buckley Kilgore of Texas, Judge of the United States Court of the Southern District of the Indian Territory.

To be marshals of the United States, Samuel Rutherford of the Indian Territory for Northern District of the Indian Territory; Lucien L. Stowe of the Indian Territory for the Southern District of the Indian Territory.

District of the Indian Territory.

The two Indian Territory Judgeships are newly created offices established by an act of the last Congress and framed for the purpose of checking in a measure the great spread and growth of lawlessness and crime in the Indian Territory, which had become a refuge of robbers and outlaws.

The new Judges are well-known ex-Congressmen. Mr. Springer served in the House of Representatives for many years, and took a prominent part in the debates of the Democratic leaders. He was Chairman of the Banking and Currency Committee in the last Congress and of the Ways and Means Committee in the preceding Congress. He has always kept up his legal reading, and has been counsel before the United States Supreme Court in many cases during his Congressional career. Soon after his defeat for Congress in the landslide of the last election he was tendered the Supreme, Court practice of one of the principal granger roads, and had its acceptance under advisement for some time. He owns a house in Washington and is fairly well-to-do. roads, and had its acceptance under advisement for some time. He owns a house in Washington and is fairly well-to-do.

Judge Kilgore served in the last four Congresses, and attracted a great deal of attention by reason of his glorous personality and frequent objections to various bills. He is a Georgian by birth and sixty years of age. He served in the late war, and his courage, it is believed, will make him useful in dealing with the lawless element who must be tried in the Indian Territory courts.

STRIKES IN AUSTRIA. he German Socialistic Party Is Gaining WASHINGTON, D. C., March 21.-Son

very interesting statistics and facts relative to strikes in Austria are furnished to the very interesting statistics and facts relative to strikes in Austria are furnished to the State Department in the shape of a report by Max Judd of St. Louis, United States Consul General at Vienna. Perhaps the most significant fact is the steady increase noted in the number of strikes in three yearsfrom 1891 to 1893—inclusive, Mr. Judd says the Austrian strikes are similar in cause and effect to those taking place in the United States, but are accompanied by less violence and are more apt to have a semi-political character. The Socialists, who are already an important political party in Germany, are gaining ground in Austria, and it is the leaders of this party who in many cases instigate the demand for greater privileges. There is less violence because the police promptly check any lawless acts in the beginning, while the presence of a standing army of 260,000 men makes disorder so ineffective as to be almost ridiculous.

The most important concession by the Austrian Government to the agitation of the labor party is the law by which employers are obliged to continue the wages of their employes who are incapable of working on account of injuries or sickness. In the last year there were 101 strikes for increase in wages, seventeen of which were successful, forty-three partly so, while forty-one falled completely. In twenty strikes against a reduction of wages, ten were successful.

PUSHING HER BUSINESS.

More Light on Germany's Aggressive

WASHINGTON, March 21.-United States Consul-General De Kay has more to say about the pushing aggressive German meth-ods of capturing the lucrative American trade for German Manufacturers in a special report to the State Department. He has transmitted a translation of an official publication which contains valuable suggestions to merchants looking to the extension of their trade with the United States. It concisely teils of our American business practices, how agents may be secured, how goods should be packed and many other facts of interest to exporters, and altogether the whole publication might serve a useful purpose if adopted for the guidance of American merchants looking for foreign markets for their products. One passage in the article that is full of significance reads as follows:

"However gratifying it may be when our exporters receive such advices from official sources, yet would we beg to remark that all such counsels will be useless if our Government shall be driven by agrarian influences to risk our commercial relations with the world in general, but especially with the United States."

MR. REBENAK'S MANDAMUS.

He Applies to the Courts for an Order on the School Board to Allow His Children's Return, Lawyer August Rebenack has applied to the Court of Appeals for a mandamus against the School Board and Principal Summer of the Gardeld School to compel any children whose parents refused to permit their vaccination. Mr. Rebenack refused to permit vaccination of his children and these, as well as many others, were sent home and since Mr. Rebenack has been obstinate in his refusal to comply with the order his children are still enjoying a vacation.

is the added danger of inoculation of other diseases.

He recognizes that the majority of physicians and laymen favor this treatment, and yet he argues that, on the other hand, there is an intelligent minority opposed to the inoculation theory, both in the medical profession and among laymen, and that these men are entitled to have their opinions respected, especially in cases where their own children are affected.

Mr. Rebenak wants to know where the limit of orders of this kind is to be. He cites the prevailing belief recently so much strengthened about anti-toxine being used as a preventative for diphtheria. He holds that if the School Board can make his children undergo vascination they can make them take the diphtheria treatment or any other treatment, medical or surgical, they may see At to require. This he claims is unconstitutional and an unwarranted interference with the rights of parents.

district south of Market street, told a Post-Dispatch reporter Tuesday a shocking story of the crueity and extortion resorted to in connection with those contracts.

He stated that the men are paid only 13 cents per hour for 10 hours' night work and eight hours' day work, with not a cent for overtime. Several teams of horses have, to his certain knowledge, been worked day and night for four days, and one team has done continuous duty for six days.

Miller stated that it frequently happens that teams driven to the stable in the morning or evening to be fed are driven back without feeding and driven the remainder of the day or night.

This species of crueity to animals has been practiced, he says, to the extent that the horses go to sleep on the street while standing in front of the wagons. Mr. Miller contends that William Wade knows that the animals are being overworked and underfed, but frequently abuses the drivers for not accomplishing more.

When he reported to be paid for his work ceive. Other employes received similar treatment.

Wade Bros, are running about twenty-three teams in all, which, Mr. Miller declares, are not able to accomplish all that the contractors demand. They compel the teamsters to work their teams day and night in order to save the money it would cost them to put on a sufficient number of wagons and teams to do the work. Thus they save one-half on every team they impose double duty upon, and instead of the wagons and teams to do the work. Thus they save one-half on every team they impose double duty upon, and instead of the teamster getting the money it goes into the pockets of the contractors.

Ed Conroy was the boss for a time, but he was discharged for the alleged reason that he did not keep track of the labor. The practice of overworking the horses has been going on for some time. The men, according to Miller's statement, fared but little better than the horses. They were frequently compelled to work from twelve to twenty hours continuously, and he said he knew of some cases where men worked all night and all day without stopping and were then expected to report for duty on the second night.

He did not know whether the same tactics were pursued with regard to the street sweepers. All that he saw relates to the street wagons. He was prompted to make the complaint out of sympathy for the animals and said he cared nothing whatever about the money they had deprived him of. He sough the Post-Dispatch raporter for the sole purpose of having the attention of the Humane Society brought to the cruel treatment of the horses. It was only after numerous questions had been asked that he told the story of how he had been compelled to work overtime without pay.

NEW CHURCH IN

Imposing Structure to Replace the Old Congregational Chapel.

IS TO COST ABOUT $40,000.

Another Handsome Iron Bridge Will Shortly Be Constructed Over the River Des Peres.

The foundation of the new Aubert Place Congregational Church, located at the head of Fountain Park, at Aubert place and Fountain avenue, has been completed and arrangements are now being made for the laying of the corner stone. The little one-story church which was for many years the home of the congreation and which was burned to the ground Jan. 8, last, would appear insignificent beside the new structure when completed. It will cost not less than $40,000, and with the finishings a few thousand dollars additional.

Bids are being received for the building of the upper portion of the church. The foundation was erected by — Witticomba, the local builder.

As shown in the lilustration the sistestone Gothic tower will rise skyward far above the church roof. There will also be several smaller towers. The entire structure will be one of the prettiest churches in the city. There will be a lawn surrounding the edifice, the entire lot measuring 125x210 feet.

The main entrance of the church will be located at the corner, facing the park, while not very large the new church will FOLSOM AV.—100 feet, south side, between Taylor and Cora, city block $150. W. A. Wood to Lewis R. Armstrong—warranty.

Perhaps you think you are not working too hard, but if you feel weak, nervous, tired, fretful, if you have duli-feeling head, sleeplessness, are easily disturbed or excited, you are overtaxing your nerve strength. They are sure symptoms of exhausted nerve power.

Other symptoms soon follow, such as dizziness, trembling, palpitation, dyspepsia, kidney and liver disease, poor blood and cold extremities. They lead to prostration, paralysis, insanity or premature death. Miss Blanche Atwood of Stowe, Vt., got into just this condition. Her mother, Mrs. S. G. Atwood, writes as follows about her wonderful cure:

"About a year ago my daughter Blanche, from too close application to study, became worn out. Her head was all confused, and at times she was almost crazy. She was terribly nervous and did not sleep, well at all. —

"She was in a frightfut condition, and we worried constantly about her. We were obliged to take her from school, for she was not able to attend. She was completely used up and good for nothing.

"A friend who had been cured by Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, advised us to try it. She commenced using it and almost immediately began to improve. Her nerves grew strong, she slept well and her head became clear.

"She was soon entirely cured of all her troubles and was in perfect health. The medicine benefited her general health also, as she was much better and stronger than before. I recommend Dr. Greene's, Nervura blood and nerve remedy to everybody."

If you have overworked in any way and weakened your nerves or injured your health you can get well by taking this wonderful medicine. There are thousands of people who are in just this condition. They are not sick with any particular disease, but they are out of order, have weak nerves and tired bodies. They do not eat or sleep well, wake tired mornings, have lost their snap and energy, and work becomes an effort. Such people need Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It gives health and strength. It should by all means be used at this season, for it is the best of all spring medicines.

It is not a patent medicine, but the prespring medicines.

It is not a patent medicine, but the pre-scription of the most successful living spe-cialist in curing nervous and chronic dis-cases, Dr. Greene of 35 West 14th St., New York City. ONLY POOR PARTS DELIVERED

A Combine Whose Power Is Greater Than America's Great Meat Houses in City Contract Competition.

Every wholesale dealer in dressed beef in St. Louis has been made to feel the power of the meat contractors' combine. The four largest meat houses in the city elson Morris & Co., G. F. Swift, Armour & b. and the Cudahy Packing Co.—have ever stood a ghost of a show for the city contracts, and the only one of the big houses that ever attempted to knock out the ring re for three or four years, but have never tempted to secure any of the city con-acts. J. W. Allaway, the local manager, he could never do any profitable business; for his house under the present regime, or as long as the contractors' clique remains, unbroken, unless he had a pull with the powers that be at the City Hall and the various institutions for which the meat is nearly 7½ cents a pound, if they delivered first-class prime meat as the contracts call for.

"Now I will explain how they work it so as to make money out of the contracts. They buy common cows at a low figure. The loins, ribs and rounds are disposed of at good prices to butchers and the coarson meats go to the city institutions. This gives the city the coarse meats from a common grade of cattle instead of the very best of prime cattle. No first-class house would dare do that I have figured on the lowest contract, but some of them run as high as $5.90, where more money can be made. Nelson Morris has the Quarantine Hospital contract at $5.96. Fos that money good meat can be said will be furnished When the contractors' ring secured the whole thing at $5.00 a few months ago meat, was $1.76 lower than it is now, and they could deliver a fairly good quality of meat, perhaps a little below the specifications, and still make money. That accounts for their willingness to spend money to hold the contracts. Even if they should lose a little money now they may be willing to stand it for the sake of future gains."

J. L. Eyoes of G. F. Switt & Co. said his company had never been able to secure any of the city contracts because of the "pull" of the contractors' combine. He never knew just where the trouble was, but somebody had a "stand-in" with the powers at the City Hall and his firm could do nothing. He said $5.90 to $6 per hundred is the cheapest that meat could be furnished in accordance with the specifications, and that if anybody claimed to be doing it cheaper the city would be the loser either on the quality or weight, and possibly on both. Mr. Eyoes showed his disgust for the methods employed by the ringsters, but did not know who to charge with the crooked work.

J. G. Atwater of the Cudahy Packing Co, said fif the contracts had been let at $5 the company had felt the influence of the ring the company had felt the influence of the ring the company had felt the influence of the ring the company had felt the influen said if the contracts had been let at $5 the city would have the best of it, provided meat were delivered according to contract. The company had felt the influence of the ring and did not bid, knowing it would be useless. No names were used. When the figures at which the contracts were let were named Mr. Atwater said if the contracts were strictly enforced the contractors would have to throw it up.

COMMISSIONER GRENNER'S WORK.

Charity Commissioner Grenner was asked if he had any new developments in the matter. He said he had not been able to do much since Tuesday, and was only sorry that he had no direct evidence to connect some of the officials at the City Hall with the irregularities. He is convinced that the contractors here had a pull with some one, and that the rake-off has been divided, but so far he has not secured positive proof against the individuals he has had in mind. He is still at work on the investigation and hopes to soon secure the desired evidence. He has arranged to compel the contractors to furnish good bond, and will take steps at once to make them furnish the quality of meat called for. He felt convinced that the contractors have "sugared" certain persons at the various institutions where the supplies are received and will endeavor to unmask them. He says the thing must have been fixed all around or else it could never have gone on so long. In the past, Mr. Grenner is convinced that the ring has "knocked out" from $3,000 to $10,000 a quarter, or $32,000 or $40,000 a year, on these contracts.

A LETTER FROM A TRAPPER.

"knocked out" from $8,000 to $10,000 a quarter, or $12,000 or $40,000 a year, on these contracts.

The following letter to Mr. Grenner from F. E. Johnson, Chicago, one of the men who succeeded in trapping the "fixers" for the contractors ring into offering Nelson Morris' agent $400 to make no bid for the contracta, is self explanatory:

"I take the liberty to again trespass on your good naura, and love of honest city government. The meat contracts were distributed last Tuesday among about six or seven bidders, the price on beef ranging from $3.9, the lowest, to $5.95, the highest. The average price upon which, the total 180,000 pounds of meat are to be sold is $4.63. You can acept my personal assurance that there will be at least 1 cent a pound, possibly more, actual loss average on every pound of meat that is delivered on these contracts, if the quality called for in the specifications is actually lived up to,

"It is your policy to mail them to the cross this time, and make them live up to a contract or throw it up. The first thing, I take it, that you are looking after is the surety on the bonds of bidders. Mayor Walbridge is the one to approve them, and I have no doubt he will see that the bonds are good. After that, and after Mr. Glibert's successor is named, the Mayor and yourself can inaugurate such steps as will insure a delivery of meat absolutely according to advertised specifications. They have, as you know, swindled the city, but thanks to the interest you and the Mayor are taking, I guess their days are numbered, as they certainly will not care to continue the contract if they are compelled to lose money."

MAYOR WALBRIDGE'S DECISION.

THEY WILL BE DEPORTED.

Want to Indict Huntington.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 2i.—The United States Grand-jury and the United

Huntington, president of the Central Pacific, for issuing an interstate pass. District Attorney Foote says there is no law under which he could be convicted and consequently he will not sanction the drawing of an indictment. It seems probable, however, that the Grand-jury will insist upon indicting the railroad president.

THE MISSOURI DISTILLERY.

The Rumor That Al Bevis Purchased It Is

A report to the effect that President Al Bevis of the Mound City Distilling Company, had purchased the old Missouri disllery, located at Barton and De Kalt streets, with the intention of operating it, is denied at the office of the Mound City Company in the Globe-Democrat building. Mr. Bevis was not in, but his representative, a relative, stated that there was no truth in the report. It was learned that at present Mr. Bevis owned the ground, but that he had sold the building to the National Distillery and Cattle Feeding Company, when the trust was formed.

Internal Revenue Collector (distilling department) Page, stated that he heard nothing of the proposed purchase. Further, that he undarstood that the building had been dismantled of its machinery and other apparatus, two years ago.

From other inquiries made it was learned that E. V. Bevis, brother of Al Bevis, was talking about building a new distillery in East St. Louis, which no doubt gave rise to the rumor. treets, with the intention of operating it, is

THE POLICE APPOINTMENTS.

It Is Not Likely Their Legality Will Be Contested.

A lively discussion is going on over the A lively discussion is going on over the claims said to have been made by ex-Police Commissioner George H. Small to the effect that the appointment of forty-seven probationary policemen last Friday was illegal. Mr. Small was seen on 'Change by a Post-Dispatch reporter and said that he did not care to say anything further on the subject, not wishing to be one of the parties to a newspaper discussion. He did say, however, that he personally did not propose or intend to take the matter into the courts and he knew of no one else who would.

Police Commissioners Lee and Fruin were seen at the Four Courts this morning and stated that they did not care to say anything about the matter, Mr. Lee said that every appointment made so far had been duly and legally confirmed by a majority of the Board of Police Commissioners and that the records would so show.

The act of March-27, 181, constituting the Board of Police Commissioners of the city of St. Louis, section 3, reads: "Any one of said commissioners, who, during the term of his office, shall accept any other place of public trust or emolument, or who, during the same period, shall knowingly receive any nomination for an office, elective by the people, without publicly declining the same within twenty days succeeding said nomination, shall be deemed to have thereby vacated his office."

Under this section it would seem that Mr. Small was not legally a member of the Board of Police Commissioners after he had signified his intention of accepting the position of Assistant United States Treasurer and that he was not therefore entitled to his quota of police appointments. laims said to have been made by ex-Police

GIVEN AN ARMY FUNERAL.

The first funeral ever conducted by the

The first funeral ever conducted by the Salvation Army in this city took place at 2 p. m. Thursday from Barracks No. 1, 1417 Franklin avenue. The funeral was that of Mrs. Jennie Jacobs, who was one of the first to enlist in the service in St. Louis. She has been an officer for the past three years, but resigned her commission invomonths ago on account of ill health.

Orders were issued by Brigadier French for all officers and soldiers to assemble at the barracks to pay their last respects to the soldier who was "mustered out," and but few were absent when the assembly call was sounded and the order given to fall in. The march was taken up to the late home of Mrs. Jacobs, 1605 Franklin avenue. Two flags that of the United States and that of the Salvation Army, which were carried at the head of the procession were tied with knots of white, and the drums gave out only muffied notes. On the left arm of each soldier was a band of white, signifying joy, for these soldiers never mourn the departure of a comrade, rather regarding death as a promotion to eternal giory from the weary labor of the world.

At the house the body lay in state, clad in the full uniform of the order, with an army flag spread over the coffin. Upon the flag rested a sickle of white flowers, a simple tribute from the corps. The pall-bearers lifted the coffin and took it to the hearse, the soldiers raising their caps and bowing their heads. Then the march was again taken up and the file returned to the barracks with the pall-bearers as special escort.

It was placed in front of the platform and Brigadier French began the service peculiar to the army. Prayers and songs, with an address by the commanding officer and a few short testimonials of the faithfulness of the departed, constituted the ceremony, aming sympathet.

"Fading Away," and then the service was concluded.

It is customary for the Salvation Army always to march to the grave when conducting a funeral, but in this case, as the cemetery is so far distant, all of the soldiers rode in carriages. Arriving at Bellefontaine a short service was held at the grave. Brigadier French delivered the oration and a volley of "amens" was fired across the soldier's last resting place.

A memorial service will be held Sunday night, at which all who knew Mrs. Jacobs will take part. The service will be conducted by Brigadier French and Ensign McAfee.

The facts as shown in the Carondelet Police Court Thursday morning are that patient Herman Kneuman of 6804 Pennsylvania avenue was injured by a motor car Oct. 5, 1894, sustaining a fracture of the leg. He was treated by Dr. Julian but, as Kneuman claims, unsuccessfully, and Dr. Stark-

Some words followed when the doctor knocked the defenseless fellow down and kicked him several times with the desire, so it is held, of re-breaking the injured leg. All of these facts several witnesses testified to. The puglistic physician acted as his own counsel, and, later, took the stand. He admitted knocking the complainant down, and possibly kicking him, also, but said that he only administered merited punishment, in lieu of the unpaid bill, which he had tried repeatedly to collect. Just why he had not delayed the proceeding until the patient was able to walk without crutches did not appear, though the Doctor is big enough to thrash his antagonist at any time. He pleaded aggravated provocation, and threw himself on the mercy of the court. The court, evidently of the opinion that doctor bills should be paid, but disapproving the summary method of collecting, fined the Doctor $5.

given by Fred E. Gotsch, the jewelr whom Mrs. Vaum accuses of having substituted Rhine stones for her sparklers.
Gotsch says that, instead of the stones having been left with him on last Friday, they were brought to him a month ago by one of Mrs. Vaum's little girls. "They were wrapped in a plece of newspaper, said he, "and I laid them on my worktable. There they remained, still in the paper, until the girl called for them. I had not touched them, and did what little was to be done on them while the girl waited. She went away with them, and that's all I know about it, except that Mrs. Vaum came here on Tuesday and claimed that I had taken her diamonds and given her pieces of glass instead. She said that she had paid $10 for them, and that, after I had handled them, she was told by a jeweler down-town that they were no good. The same stones were in the earrings when the girl got them from me as when they were brought here. I can swear to that, but I have no one to prove it by."

It Is Not Likely Their Legality Will Be Contested.

A lively discussion is going on over the claims said to have been made by ex-Police A lively discussion is going on over the claims said to have been made by ex-Police Commissioner George H. Small to the effect that the appointment of forty-seven probationary policemen last Friday was illegal. Mr. Small was seen on 'Change by a Post-Dispatch reporter and said that he did not care to say anything further on the subject, not wishing to be one of the parties to a newspaper discussion. He did say, however, that he personally did not propose or intend to take the matter into the courts and he knew of no one else who would. Police Commissioners Lee and Fruin were seen at the Four Courts this morning and stated that they did not care to say anything about the matter. Mr. Lee said that every appointment made so far had been duly and legally confirmed by a majority of the Board of Police Commissioners and that the records would see show.

The act of March-27, 181, constituting the Board of Police Commissioners of the city of St. Louis, section 3, reads: "Any one of said commissioners, who, during the term of his office, shall accept any other place of public trust or emolument, or who, during the same period; shell knowingly receive any nomination for an office, elective by the people, without publicly decling said nomination, shall be deemed to have thereby vacated his office."

Under this section it would seem that Mr. Small was not legally a member of the Board of Police Commissioners after he had signified his intention of accepting the position of Assistant United States Treasurer and that he was not therefore entitled to his quota of police appointments.

GIVEN AN ARMY FUNERAL

Mrs. Jennie Jacobs Interred With Salvation Honors.

The first funeral ever conducted by the Salvation Army in this city took place at 2 p. m. Thursday from Barracks No. 1, 1417 Franklin avenue. The funeral was that of Mrs. Jennie Jacobs, who was one of the first to enlist in the service in St. Louis. She has been an officer for the past three years, but resigned her commission two months ago on account of ill health.

Orders were issued by Brigadier French for all officers and soldiers to assemble at the barracks to pay their last respects to the soldier who was "mustered out," and but few were absent when the assembly call was sounded and the order given to fall in. The march was taken up to the late home of Mrs. Jacobs, 1605 Franklin avenue. Two flags that of the United States and that of the Salvation Army, which were carried at the head of the procession were tied with knots of white, and the drums gave out only muffled notes. On the left arm of each soldier was a band of white, signifying joy, for these soldiers never mourn the departure of a comrada, rather regarding death as a promotion to eternal glory from the weary labor of the world.

At the house the body lay in state, clad in the full uniform of the order, with an army flag spread over the coffin. Upon the flag rested a sickle of white flowers, a simple tribute from the corps. The pall-bearers lifted the coffin and took it to the hearse, the soldiers raising their caps and bowing their heads. Then the march was again taken up and the file returned to the barracks with the pall-bearers as special escort.

Cort.

Into the little room where the earnest Christian had labored for so many years in her chosen line of duty, the body was taken for the last time. It was placed in front of the platform and Brigadier French the service peculiar to the army.

front of the platform and Brigadier French began the service peculiar to the army. Prayers and songs, with an address by the commanding officer and a few short testimonials of the faithfulness of the departed, constituted the ceremony, amid sympathetic "amens" from all parts of the room. Two of the favorite songs of the deceased were sung, "My Jesus, I Love Thee" and "Fading Away," and then the service was concluded.

It is customary for the Salvation Army always to march to the grave when conducting a funeral, but in this case, as the cemetery is so far distant, all of the soldiers rode in carriages. Arriving at Bellefontaine a short service was held at the grave. Brigadier French delivered the oration and a volley of "amens" was fired across the soldier's last resting place.

A memorial service will be held Sunday night, at which all who knew Mrs. Jacobs will take part. The service will be conducted by Brigadier French and Ensign McAfee.

NEW COLLECTION-METHOD.

Physician Julian Beats a Convalescent Patient and Is Fined.

Dr. Horace Julian, a big six-footer who hails from North Carolina, has introduced a new method of collecting bills from his patients for professional services rendered. patients for professional services rendered. He catches his victim in an alley before he has sufficiently recovered to make much resistance, and takes the value of the bill out of the patient's anatomy.

The facts as shown in the Carondelet File Court Thursday morning are that patient Herman Kneuman of 6804 Fennsylvania avenue was injured by a motor car Oct. 5, 1894, sustaining a fracture of the leg. He was treated by Dr. Julian but, as Kneuman claims, unsuccessfully, and Dr. Stark rania avenue was injured by a motor car Oct. 5, 1894, sustaining a fracture of the leg. He was treated by Dr. Julian but, as Kneuman claims, unsuccessfully, and Dr. Starkloff was billed in Dr. Julian but, as Kneuman claims, unsuccessfully, and Dr. Starkloff was billed in Dr. Julian who have a billed in Dr. Julian who have a billed in Dr. Julian who demanded his money, but finally agreed to compromise for $20. Kneuman left to get the money, but, Dr. Julian says, never returned. The doctor then went to the patient's house, but found no one. He was returning when he met Kneuman in an alley. Some words followed when the doctor knocked the defenseless fellow down and kicked him several times with the desire, so it is held, of re-breaking the injured leg. All of these facts several witnesses testified to. The puglilstic physician acted as his own counsel, and, later, took the stand. He admitted knocking the complainant down, and possibly kicking him, also, but said that he only administered merited punishment, in lieu of the unpaid bill, which he had tried repeatedly to collect. Just why he had not delayed the proceeding until the patient was able to walk without crutches did not appear, though the Doctor is big enough to thrash his antagonist at any time. He pleaded aggravated provocation, and threw himself on the mercy of the court. The court, evidently of the opinion that doctor bills should be paid, but disapproving the summary method of collecting, fined the Doctor $5.

MRS. VAUM'S DIAMONDS.

reler Gotsch Denies the Charges Made of Substitution of Paste Stones.

The story of Mrs. David Vaum's diamonds as told Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Johnson on Wednesday by the lady and her husband, differs somewhat from the version given by Fred E. Gotsch, the jewelr whom given by Fred E. Gotsch, the jewelr whom Mrs. Vaum accuses of having substituted Rhine stones for her sparklers.

Gotsch says that, instead of the stones having been left with him on last Friday, they were brought to him a month ago by one of Mrs. Vaum's little girls. "They were wrapped in a piece of newspaper, said he, "and I laid them on my worktable. There they remained, still in the paper, until the girl called for them. I had not touched them, and did what little was to be done on them while the girl waited. She went away with them, and that's all I know about it, except that Mrs. Vaum came here on Tuesday and claimed that I had taken her diamonds and given her pieces of glass instead. She said that she had paid 570 for them, and that, after I had handled them, she was told by a jeweler down-town that they were no good. The same stones were in the earrings when the girl got them from me as when they were brought here. I can swear to that, but I have no one to prove it by."

MUCH NEW BUSINESS.

One Effect of the Recent Changes in the St. Louis National Bank.

Want to Indict Huntington SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 21.—The United States Grand-jury and the United States District Court are in conflict regarding the question of indicting C. It seems probable, however, that the Grand-jury will insist upon indicting the railroad president.

Reported Lynching of Harriet Talley, Colored.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 21.—No definite information has been received as to the reported lynching of Harriet Talley, colored, near Petersburg, Lincoln County. The report that she had met death at the hands of lynchers was brought to Fayetteville by two negroes. The woman, it seems, is missing, but whether she has left the county of her own accord or met with a violent death has not been learned.

It May Be Agreed by Counsel to Advance

It One Week.

CHICAGO, March 21.—Edwin Walker and Thomas Milchrist of the special counsel and United States District Attorney Black had a conference with Judge Grosscup today about the trial of Eugene V. Debs and the other Railway Union officers, which has been set for a rehearing on the first Monday in May. It was agreed to advance the trial one week if the counsel for the defense will agree. Mr. Walker will confer with Messrs. Darrow and Gregory concerning the matter.

Mr. Walker left for Washington to-day to be present at the hearing before the Supreme Court on the habeas corpus application testing the constitutionality of the act under which Judge Woode committed the officers of the union to jail for contempt of court.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PINE BLUFF, Ark., March 21.—W. F. Campbell, a prominent planter of this county, was probably fatally stabbed by J. J. Validity of Rebate Certificates.

PEORIA, Ill., March 21.—John S. Stevens, attorney of the Distillers' and Cattle Feeders' Company, said this morning that the decision of the United States Circuit Court in favor of Gottschalk & Co. for $37,112 did not affect the validity of rebate certificates at all, because in the case the court held there had been no violation of the conditions of the certificates; that is, the plaintiffs had not dealt in outside goods. Mr. Stevens said several cases have been tried upon the validity of the conditions of the rebates and rebate vouchers, and in every instance the courts have held that holders of the rebates must comply with the conditions upon which they are promised as a condition precedent to any right of recovery. In all these cases the rebates have been sustained.

BESSEMER PIG.

t Is Strengthened With the Advance in Coke-Workers' Wages.

CLEVELAND, O., March 21.-The Iron Trade Review this week will say: The important events of the week to the iron trade have been the announcement of an advance in coke workers' wages with a prompt strengthening of the market for beasemer pig, and the beginning of negotiations that in all probability will result in sales of Lake Superior ores before the close of the month. No announcement of coke prices has been made as yet, but the fact that in a few cases Apri coke was contracted for a short time ago on a basis of 2c over existing prices for every cent advance in mining, leads to the belief that the advance will be very close to 25c. Some operators, however, have been asking a 3 to 1 ratio in providing against a wage advance. This would mean an additional 35c on a ton of coke. Furnace men have covered in part Trade Review this week will say: The imon sales of bessemer pig for delivery after April 1 by accumulating coke at the low prices prevailing, and at most Valley furnaces, moreover, there are goodly stocks of bessemer iron.
